REVENGE OF THE NERD!

PHILLIP DeFelice. Did taunts of "nerd" cause the wimp to turn?

Taunts drove 'wimp' to put bomb in his tormentor's locker, say stunned police

A high school honors student, who couldn't stand being called "nerd" anymore, decided to get even by rigging a homemade bomb inside a locker so it would blow up in the face of one of his tormentors, cops said.

Cops in Medford, N.J., said 18-year-old Phillip DeFelice planted the bomb after he slipped out of an awards banquet where he picked up a $2,000 scholarship.

By PETE COOKE

The bomb exploded the following morning when Shawnee High School freshman Brian Kerfoot opened his locker before classes began.

Kerfoot, 15, suffered burns to his face, arms and neck in the blast.

Authorities said Kerfoot and his friends taunted DeFelice about being a nerd and taunted him about wearing a coat and tie to school every day.

According to school officials, DeFelice ate his lunch at a cafeteria table situated next to Kerfoot and his friends.

"They called each other names and I guess DeFelice was getting the worst of it," said Kerfoot's brother, Matthew.

Investigators said DeFelice broke into the school's metal shop and stole material he needed to build the bomb.

"It was a relatively primitive device made from gunpowder and batteries," said Martin Dunn, an investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Dunn said the bomb was attached to a string that detonated the device when Kerfoot opened his locker.

"There was a sound of an explosion and a lot of flame and smoke," said gym teacher Dwight Thompson, who witnessed the blast. "There was a boom and a flame that shot all

BRIAN Kerfoot got a surprise when he opened his locker.

Kerfoot was treated at a nearby hospital and released.

"The explosion probably would have been a lot worse," said Prosecutor Stephen Raymond. "The device appeared to have blown down through the bottom of the locker."

DeFelice was arrested on charges of aggravated assault, aggravated arson, second-degree burglary, attempted aggravated arson and possession of explosive devices.

He was held without bond.

Surprise! This is a stickup!

Many of the guests, including Bugalin's wife Maria, thought it was a joke. "I grabbed one of them by the arm and said, 'Now is not a good time,' then I tried to said Mrs. Bugalin. "Then they told us to lie down on the floor, real scary-like, and we knew they weren't kidding," she said.

The robbers took cash and jewelry worth $5,000 from the stunned party-goers, before escaping in police

Man vows to get a sex change after . . .

Angry wife gives drag queen hubby THE BOOT!

LEFT: Derek Draper dressed as a girl

'The sight of him wearing my clothes was enough to make me sick,' says missus

By JOE BERGER

Balding bus driver Derek Draper got the boot from his bewildered wife of 21 years — when she caught him prancing around in her best bra and panties!

Dainty Derek, 58, confessed he'd been secretly slipping on ladies' duds since he was 12. And now the divorced dad wants to go all the way — and become a full-fledged femme fatale.

"I've always been a woman inside," dreamy Derek told reporters. "Now I want an operation so I can be a woman on the outside, too."

Tim Pitwick, England, father of two came out of the closet like a shot the day his unsuspecting wife Sue caught him decked out in her frilly undies and spiked-heel shoes.

"Once she found out, I decided what the hell and began wearing women's clothes around the house," said the would-be belle.

But his miffed missus wanted no part of a hubby in high heels and gave him the boot.

"The sight of him wearing my clothes made me sick," said the livid lady.

So Derek scurried off to live with his understanding, 43-year-old mother Ethel.

"Mum loves me, even in a wig and women's clothing," he said. "She doesn't bat an eyelid when I get dressed up."

And even Derek's co-workers are getting used to their drag queen crony.

"The boys at the terminal used to rib me, but now they hardly say a thing — even though they know I'm wearing panties and tights under my uniform," said the gender-bending bus driver.

When he's finished with each day's run, Derek dashes home to slip into something comfortable — usually a skirt and blouse.

"Whenever I go out, I always dress up a woman, although my size 11 feet and deep voice are a bit of a give-away," he said.

Derek dreams of the day hormone treatments and surgery will endow him with some womanly curves — and turn him into a real sex-swap sweetie.

COP CAR GETS REPOSSESSED!

When local officials failed to pay him for a car he'd sold to the city, Regis Lachapelle swung into action — and had the crumpled police car repossessed.

Mayor Michel Legere said the delay in payment was just an oversight.

Oversexed ghost drives four students from apartment!

Four students have been driven out of their Sorbonne apartment by an amorous ghost.

But they claim it's not because the spook is oversexed, but "because she's an damned ugly."

University of Paris student Francis Millard, 23, said the haunting began last June, a few weeks after the four friends moved into a 100-year-old apartment building in the Rue du Faubourg.

"I woke up one night with the sensation that a woman's soft hands were fondling my body," he revealed. "It was pleasant, very pleasant, and it lulled me back to sleep.

"Next morning at breakfast I casually mentioned what had happened in the night, and to my surprise my roommates said the same thing happened to them.

By JIM BAXTER

"We decided to say nothing about it for a few weeks and we enjoyed the nightly visits of our loving ghost, but then Jean-Michel, the youngest of us, woke us in the early hours of the morning screaming."

Jean-Michel Garnier, 19, explained: "I was living there enjoying my nightly caresses when I noticed a white face above my bed.

"Slowly the face formed into the shape of a woman's head — an ugly, toothless old crone who looked to be about 90 years old. Her hands were all over my body. That's when I screamed."

In the nights that followed, all four of the students saw the ghost. And all were horrified by her ugliness and the obscene gestures she made to she fondled their bodies.

"Finally we couldn't take it," Millard said. "She was the damned ugliest ghost in history."

Jean-Michel Garnier said: "I was so disappointed. Her hands were so soft. I expected she'd be a beautiful woman. Maybe even a princess or an heiress. A toothless old lady didn't, as the Americans say, turn me on."

"Everywhere, crying male housewives, is what I put it all down to," said apartment manager Pierre Cavenac, 60. "There is no ghost in this building.

"Those young men were living without women and their hormones were out of control. They imagined a woman's hands were caressing their bodies, and then they got a guilty conscience and imagined the hands belonged to an ugly old lady.

"Take my word for it, it's

"They came into the world hours apart and left it hours apart"

Two childhood pals who were born in the same hospital on the same day only hours apart were killed in separate highway crashes on the same day 22 years later — only hours apart!

By DICK DONOVAN

Jacqueline Wisinak and her husband Richard were killed in a two-car, head-on collision in Mesquite, a suburb of Dallas, Tex.

And life ended less than five hours later for 22-year-old Billy Wayne Mata when his car careened out of control on a twisting farm road southeast of San Antonio.

"I was taking my son's death real hard . . . he was such a sweetheart," Billy's grieving mom Elizabeth told The NEWS.

"But when I found out that Jacqueline had died, too, I thought it was a sign from God. They came into the world hours apart and they left it hours apart. Maybe they were meant to be friends forever."

Jackie and Billy were born on Oct. 7, 1955, in a San Antonio hospital where their mothers shared the same room. The same doctor delivered both babies.

Jackie and Billy grew up together, became close friends and, in 1973, graduated together from high school.

Three years later, they died as they were born — on the same day only hours apart.

In a bizarre twist, Elizabeth Mata and Jackie's mom, Rosie Jaimes, had been close friends who drifted apart and lost touch until a quirk of fate brought them together in the same funeral home years later.

Satan worshipper is 170 yrs. old!

SATAN worshipper Yolanda Robles, 170, says she owes her long life to the Devil and that she has 30 years left!

'The Devil said I'd live 200 years if I spread his word,' says woman born in 1819

By LAYTON TURNER

A devil worshipper who claims to be 170 years old has been tested by doctors — who agree that she was born on June 9, 1819!

"There is no doubt about her age," Dr. Francisco Melendez, a Mexico City-based aging expert, said in a letter to the science journal Geriatric Report.

"Analysis of the woman's teeth and a lock of hair that was snipped in her infancy prove that she is at least 170, even though her mind is sharp and she appears to be in her 80s.

"She attributes her longevity and good health to Satan. Frankly we don't know what to make of it.

"Our plans are to study her diet and home environment to see if we can find any clues that might indicate why she has lived so long."

The woman herself, Yolanda Robles of Ensenada, Mexico, acts as if her age is nothing special and insists that doctors are wasting their time looking for a medical explanation.

She says Satan promised her a long life when she began to worship him in 1830 as a girl of 11. She also says he guaranteed that she would live to the age of 200.

"The Devil said I'd live 200 years if I spread his word," she said.

"I have work to do and he is giving me the time to do it," said Mrs. Robles. "Satan is not evil. He is good. It is my duty to spread his message and show all people the truth.

"Satan is life. I am dying proof of that."

Oddly enough, Mrs. Robles lived in obscurity until she visited a clinic to have a splinter removed from her foot in early May.

Doctors reportedly thought she was joking when she gave her age as 170.

But she was so insistent that they contacted Dr. Melendez who traveled from Mexico City to Ensenada to speak with the woman firsthand. He has since enlisted the help of psychiatrist Oscar Silva Maiz and gerontologist Jose Maya Zepeda to help him in the study of the woman, who was middle-aged when America's Civil War was fought in the 1860s — and almost 100 when the Wright brothers flew their plane at Kitty Hawk in 1903.

Mrs. Robles also claims to have outlived 10 husbands, the last of whom died in 1965.

"The woman doesn't have a birth certificate, but she does have marriage licenses for 10 of her husbands dating back to 1853," said Dr. Melendez. "And her recollections of history are nothing short of remarkable, probably because she actually lived it."

Psychiatrist Maiz is currently trying to hypnotize Mrs. Robles to see if he can learn anything more from her while she is in a trance.

Laxative killing!

Friendly pharmacist Milton Pack was stabbed to death in his store — over a $4.79 bottle of laxatives.

An angry customer jumped over a counter and murdered Pack, 62, with a kitchen knife because he refused to give the killer a refund on a bottle of milk of magnesia.

Michael McFarland, 21, was charged with murder, robbery and possessing an instrument of crime.

Boss says her looks were hurting business

Ugly waitress who got 'the axe' sues restaurant — & wins!

By JACK ALEXANDER

A restaurant owner was told to pay $2,500 to a waitress who was fired — because he didn't like her looks.

Roxanne De Jong testified that boss Anton Berlacher said her severe acne problem was ruining fears among customers of AIDS, gonorrhea and syphilis.

Berlacher said "customers were being offended" and their reaction "was hurting his business." Miss De Jong told the British Columbia Council of Human Rights in Victoria, Canada.

Instead of firing her then, Berlacher offered her part-time work, but the cultivated waitress said she needed full-time work, according to court documents.

A few days later she was axed. "In all the circumstances, I find the complaint justified in that the employment was terminated because of a physical disability," said council chairman Leona Barr.

Evidence at the hearing revealed Miss De Jong suffers from acne that results in scarring.

No treatment has been successful in curing her acne, she said. The restaurant was ordered to pay $2,500 to Miss De Jong "as some compensation for hurt and humiliation."

'Human torch' sets off a $700,000 blaze

A maintenance worker mysteriously caught fire and became a human torch as he ran through a paint-finishing plant — touching off a $700,000 blaze!

By JACK ALEXANDER

Fire officials are still trying to find out what started the fire in a bathroom of the Ensonelite Industries Inc. in Wyoming, Mich.

They do know that Leonard Derrington's clothes also caught fire. As he ran screaming for help, his flaming clothes ignited stacks of lacquers and thinners before a co-worker blasted him with a fire extinguisher and got him out of the burning building alive.

"He was a human torch," Deputy Fire Chief James Austin of Wyoming said.

"The man is in critical condition with burns over 67 per cent of his body so we haven't been able to ask him how the fire started.

"We do know that he just been cleaning a bathroom with a solvent.

"We also understand that he came out of the bathroom and was engulfed in flames until another worker heard him and ran over to help."

The co-worker, Ron Dicoscam, said he was about 30 yards away when he saw smoke coming from the bathroom and heard Derrington yell, "Help, help!"

He blasted the 31-year-old man with a fire extinguisher and led him out of the plant.

Deputy Fire Chief Austin said that the two maintenance workers were alone in the building when the fire broke out. Derrington was the only person injured in the blaze — which caused an estimated $700,000 damage to the plant, the fire official said.

Jealous bride gives cops the dope on her pot-growing hubby

A jealous bride turned her hubby into the cops for growing marijuana — after she called him at home and heard women giggling in the background.

Fifty pot plants about 4½ feet tall and worth about $30,000 were found growing in an elaborate nursery in the Palm Harbor, Fla., home of James Eckland, said sheriff's spokesman Marianne Pasha.

"If it hadn't been for her husband's womanizing, Mrs. Eckland said she wouldn't have tipped us off, but she was jealous," said Deputy Pasha.

Newlywed Mary Ellen Eckland wondered for seven months why her husband kept the doors to two of their three bedrooms padlocked.

When she asked him why, he told her it was none of her business and threatened to hurt her if she got too nosy, said Deputy Pasha.

But curiosity got the best of her one night. She sneaked around the side of the house and peered into one of the bedrooms.

Mrs. Eckland, 28, snapped a photo through the window parked her bags and didn't stop driving until she reached North Carolina.

By JACK ALEXANDER

Three days later she called and confronted her 34-year-old husband about what she saw. During their conversation, the furious bride heard women "laughing and talking" in the background. Thirty minutes later, she called sheriff's deputies.

Deputies raided Eckland's home the next day and confiscated 50 marijuana plants.

The pot was growing in one of the most elaborate inside nurseries authorities say they have ever seen. Black tarpaulins covered the floors to protect the carpet from bags of potting soil. Fluorescent lamps and heaters were hooked up to transformers, and an odor-reducing machine was installed to keep the aroma behind the doors, said authorities.

Eckland was booked into the Pinellas County Jail on $30,000 bond, charged with cultivating and possessing marijuana.

Furious feds make shocking charge against high-flying hotshot:

Ritzy 'Robbing Hood' stole from the poor

. . . & made HIMSELF rich!

POLITICAL bigwig Lawrence King in better days as he posed with ex-President Reagan's daughter Maureen outside Dallas Southfork Ranch.

By PETE COOKE

Free-spending political hotshot Lawrence King's life in the fast lane came to a screeching halt when federal authorities charged that he financed his high-rolling ways with money he ripped off from the poor!

The flamboyant 44-year-old Republican Party bigwig was indicted in Omaha, Nebr., on 40 charges including embezzlement, tax evasion, wire fraud and mail fraud.

King, who sang the National Anthem at the 1984 Republican National Convention in Dallas, threw lavish parties, including one at the famous Southfork Ranch where the popular TV show Dallas is filmed.

At last year's GOP convention in New Orleans, King blew $100,000 on gala parties, according to authorities.

King traveled in chartered jets and limousines. He owned bars and restaurants in Omaha and a house near city embassy row in Washington, D.C. His fabulous collection of jewelry included a $60,000 wristwatch.

But federal authorities said King bankrolled his fantastic life-style by ripping off poor people who deposited their meager savings in King's Franklin Community Federal Credit Union in Omaha.

An assistant U.S. attorney, Thomas Thalken, said as much as $30 million is missing from the credit union. "We're still trying to account for all the missing money," he said.

Authorities said victims of the ripoff included people who had small savings accounts at the credit union. Some businesses and convents in North Dakota and South Dakota also lost money in King's credit union, officials said.

The National Credit Union Administration closed down the credit union in March following. Authorities slapped King with a 40-count indictment.

King, who once ran up a $1.1 million American Express bill, was released on his own recognizance. King's wife, Allen, was indicted on 13 charges in the case scheduled for trial in December.

Why we become chocolate freaks

Amazing new medical research reveals people may get hooked on chocolate and other sweets for the same reason others are addicted to drugs.

A craving for chocolate appears to be triggered by the same kinds of chemicals in the brain that account for addiction to drugs, a University of Michigan researcher says.

Chemicals called opioid peptides, which are manufactured by the brain, stimulate the production of opioids in blood, people feel rich, sweet foods lose appealing.

The researchers reveals presented their findings at a meeting of the American

Accident was 'death of kiss'

The woman suffered dental injuries and a cut to her bottom lip in an accident in Wellington, Australia.

The injuries left an uncomfortable and irritating scar, which she said reduced the pleasure of kissing.

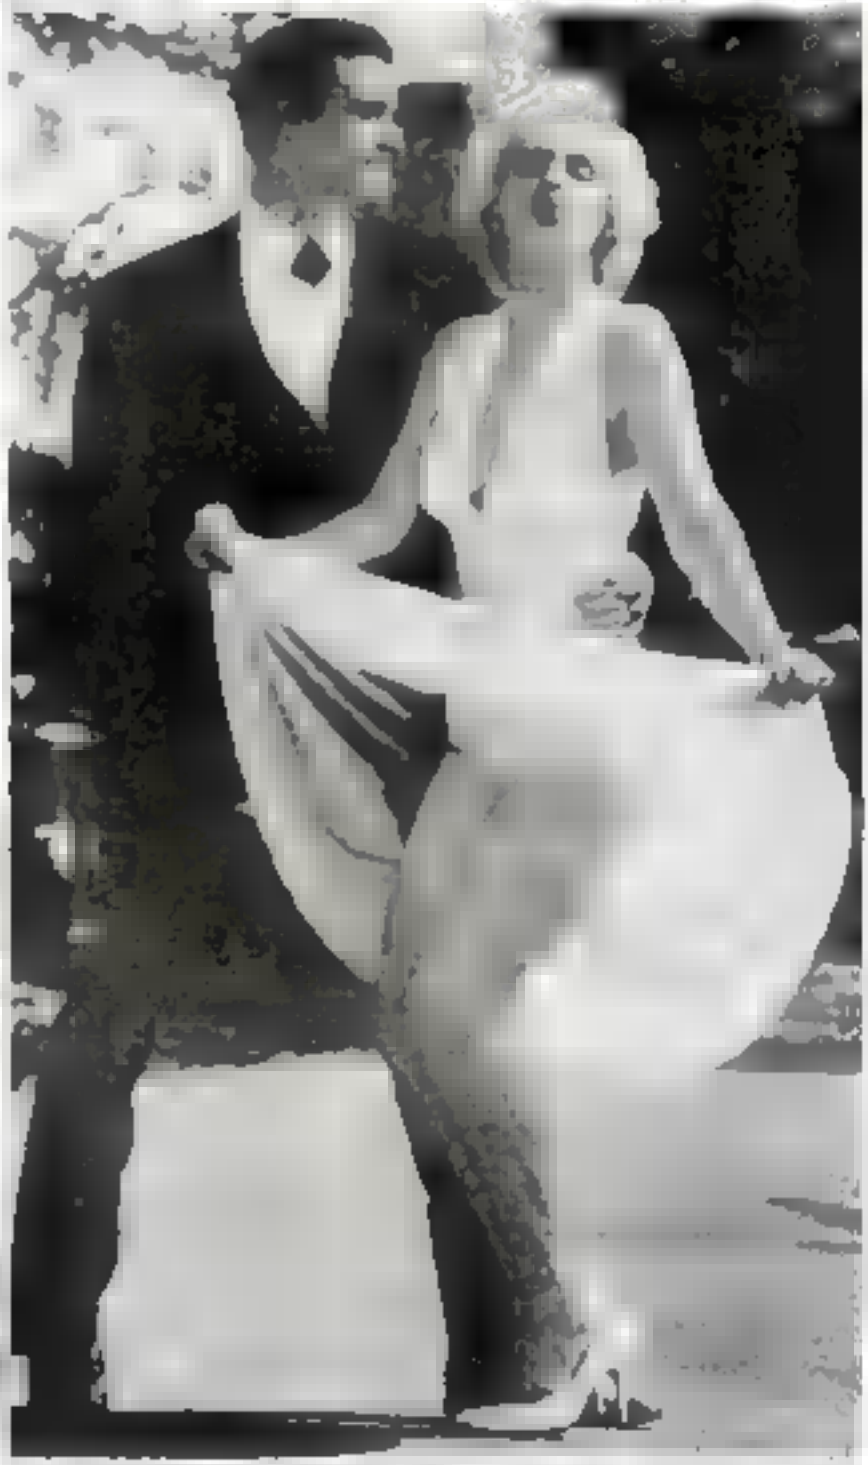
Monroe impersonator joins her movie idol in the big sleep

TRAGIC LOOK-ALIKE PLAYED MARILYN . . . IN LIFE AND IN DEATH!



Empty pill bottle and vodka lay beside her bed, say cops

By DICK DONOVAN

A blonde bombshell who made a career out of posing as sex goddess Marilyn Monroe played out her final role exactly as her dead film idol did in 1962 — she downed a fatal dose of sleeping pills!

In a chilling replay of one of Hollywood's saddest tragedies, the naked body of stunning 24-year-old Marilyn look-alike Kay Kent was found sprawled across her bed in her home in Chatham, England.

Stunned detectives said they found a half-empty bottle of vodka and an empty bottle of sleeping pills on Kay's bedside table, just as police had found in Marilyn's bedroom almost three decades ago.

"Kay was so involved in her Marilyn image that she just couldn't help herself from dying just like her idol had," her anguished elder brother explained.

"I don't know why she killed herself. She had hundreds of people around her. Maybe she wanted to die of loneliness."

But, just as many Hollywood insiders suspect in Marilyn's death, Kay's suicide may have driven her to take her own life.

A note to 28-year-old British rock singer Dean Hollywood, found beside Kay's body, read: "Dear Dean, I love you so very much."

The remainder of the note was so badly scrawled that it can't be read except for her final words, "Love, Kay."

But there was one distinct contrast in the bizarre suicide pacts.

Kay died in the sparsely furnished bedroom in Marilyn's bungalow outside Hollywood. Kay's room was cluttered with photographs of the legendary star, along with books and video tapes she used in perfecting the impersonation that earned her $80,000 a year.

Fans didn't bring the happiness they both had yearned for. And both ended their lives lying alone in their beds with a handful of sleeping pills the only release from the misery each came to know 27 years apart.

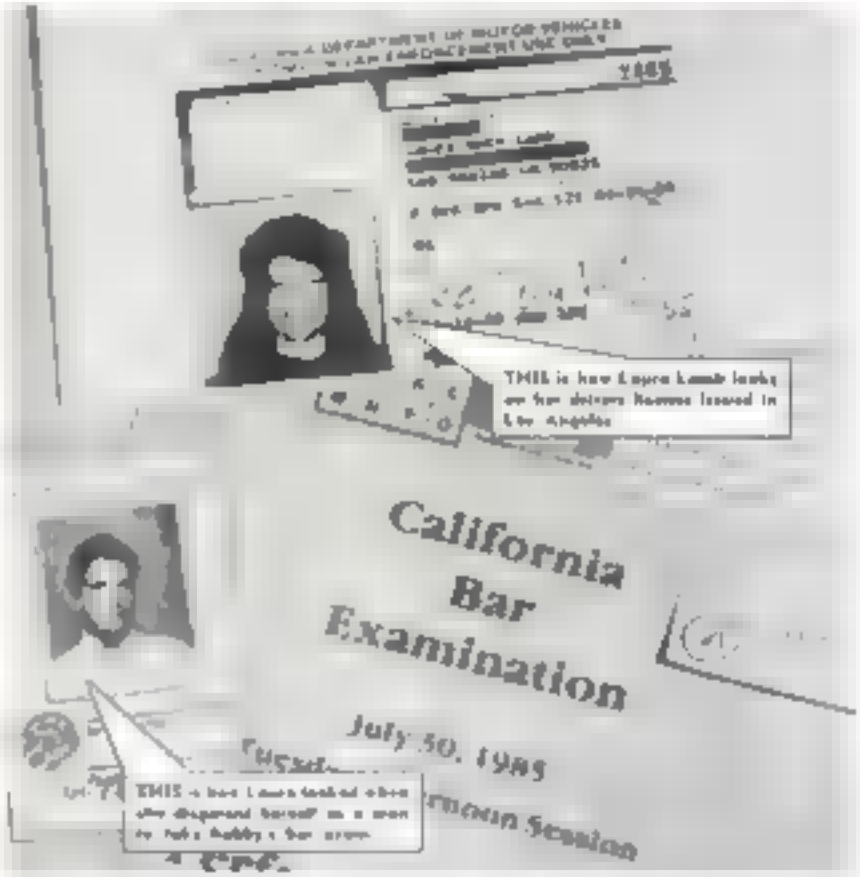
BRILLIANT WIFE TOOK HUSBAND'S BAR EXAM

— after he threatened to kill her and her unborn baby, say police



'He told me to disguise myself as a man'

A brilliant young lawyer said her husband threatened to kill her and the couple's unborn child unless she agreed to disguise herself as a man and take his bar exam for him!

Laura Beth Lamb, who was an attorney for the federal Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), is now facing disbarment in Los Angeles for taking her husband's bar exam after he'd failed it.

"She had the brains in the family," said attorney Diana Yu, who represents the California State Bar in their case against Mrs. Lamb.

"She took the exam and placed ninth among over 4,000 who took it. She was an outstanding attorney and married a jerk! Beautiful. All the time knowing it was wrong."

Mrs. Lamb met her husband, Morgan, while both were law students at the University of California at Los Angeles. They married after graduation and she went to work as an SEC lawyer once she passed the grueling three-day bar examination in February 1984.

By PETE CROUT

But after Lamb took the exam in February 1985 and failed, he became abusive and violent toward his wife. He demanded that she take the test for him, said Tom Law, Mrs. Lamb's attorney.

Law told the California Supreme Court at the disbarment hearing that Lamb threatened to kill his wife, their unborn baby and himself.

"She became overwhelmed," Law said. "She thought her baby would die. She thought she would die."

When Mrs. Lamb finally agreed to take her husband's bar examination, she was seven months pregnant and suffering from diabetes, hypertension, kidney failure and toxemia, a condition that could have blinded her, Law said.

Officials say Mrs. Lamb wore a man's shirt, pulled her hair back and perfected an Dick Tracy-type voice when she posed as her husband for identification photos taken before the test on July 1985.

She also signed her husband's name on the test application and she deliberately smudged a thumbprint used to identify test-takers, Bar officials said.

After completing the exam for her husband, Mrs. Lamb was rushed to a hospital and spent 10 days in intensive care before giving birth to the couple's baby.

The State Bar received a tip about the switch while the exams were still being graded. Lamb was not admitted to the Bar and never practiced law.

Mrs. Lamb, who divorced her husband in 1986, pleaded no contest to charges of false impersonation. She was fined $1,500.

She is now working as a legal secretary.

Raising drinking age encourages boozing!

Raising the legal drinking age from 18 to 21 could encourage minors to drink, a surprising new study indicates.

An astonishing 91 percent of underage students admitted drinking alcohol in a recent study of 2,375 college students throughout America. But only 75 percent of legal age students admitted drinking alcohol.

New York professor David Hanson, says that his research may indicate an example of "reactance theory" in which people who are told they cannot do something react by doing it.

The psychologist also said that 84 percent of underage drinkers said they drank because public pressure to drink was high.

Put down as little as $495 to be your own boss, own your own chimney sweeping company and...

Earn up to $60 an hour, or more!

Flammable creosote and soot pour into millions of chimneys every year and most of it goes up the flue.

But what sticks to the flue can be deadly.

As the layers of soot and creosote get thicker, the risk of a chimney fire gets greater. One wild spark can ignite it. Somebody's got to defuse this time-bomb before it destroys the whole house!

The work averages $55 per flue. You're in and out in 45 minutes or less – if you're using the new SweepPak® system. That's better than $60 an hour.

You can easily make $200 to $300 a day working alone... more than $1000 a week – and that's not even pushing it, as you'll see...

By Jack Jenkins, President & Chief Engineer

"The first day I used my SweepVac I swept 46 condo fireplaces and earned $1202" reports Joe Thompson, Shullsburg, WI, who has documented his amazing performance. "This vac can't be improved."

WHEN YOU'RE A SWEEPPAK SWEEP, you're your own boss. You work when, where and how you want to. You've got the best vac and the best system made, and you're in control.

And the money's good: it ranges from $35 to $65 per flue, and the national average is around $55. Four flues gives you over $200 for less than three hours of sweeping time. Five days like that gives you more than $1,000.

Yes, it's hard work and it's sooty. But regular soap and water takes care of that. And, as every sweep knows, when the water's black, your wallet's full.

One of the most beautiful things about this backyard business is that you get to keep every cent you earn. It's a cash business. Your overhead is low – especially if you work out of your home – and the tax advantages are substantial, whether you sweep full time or part time.

In a class by itself

The heart of the SweepPak System is SweepVac®, a lightweight, high-efficiency vacuum/filtration machine. SweepVac's two inexpensive, easily replaceable filters trap dust particles down to 1 micron. That's 1/75th of the size of the period at the end of this sentence.

Yet, SweepVac filters are designed to yield an air flow of over 400 CFM (400 cubic feet per minute) – the key to controlling chimney dust and keeping your customer's living room clean. The combination of high CFM and microscopic filtration puts SweepVac in a class by itself.

As a result, SweepPak sweeps clean over 90% of their flues and chimneys from outside the house – even if everything in the house is pure white – and they never worry about the soot spills, blow-bys and filter failures that give other sweeps nightmares. You offer sweeping tune, chimney inspection cleanups, and deliver the professional brand of work that wins customers and keeps them happy. It all comes down to more smiles all around and more cash in your pocket.

"This vac can't be improved"

The most amazing example of SweepVac's sweep-making power is demonstrated by master sweep Joe Thompson, Shullsburg, Wisconsin. "The first day I used my SweepVac I swept 46 condo fireplaces and earned $1,202. The power's there and the filters are great – they don't plug up – and they're easy to clean. This vac can't be improved."

"With SweepVac, I'm $100 to $150 ahead every day I work!"

"I'd been using an old monster since 1981, and with all the heavy hauling and setting-up time, the best I could do was 4 condos an hour," says Joe. "With my SweepVac, I'm doing 8 to 10 an hour. It's my business, time is money – and with SweepVac, I'm $100 to $150 ahead every day I work."

SweepVac weighs only 64 pounds but its powerful motor pulls sooty, dusty air through its high-efficiency filters as fast as Joe Thompson can sweep – and when you're doing 8 to 10 fireplaces an hour, you're really sweepin' up a storm."

The average chimney sweep made $30,000 in 1988* and he earned it. While he got most of the soot and dust he went after, whatever his vac or his filters couldn't handle got left behind.

"When you're a SweepPak sweep, you're king"

SweepPak, the complete chimney cleaning system, was introduced late in 1988 after four years of research and development. The heart of the 35-piece SweepPak System is SweepVac, a lightweight, high-efficiency machine engineered for today's sweeps by the leading American manufacturer of vacuum/filtration systems. Its powerful 2.1 HP motor turns up to 9950 RPM and pulls in dust, soot and creosote at 138 MPH! There's nothing better. When you're a SweepPak sweep, you're king!

"I've got nothing but praise for my SweepVac"

"I like the SweepVac design," says John Kearney, San Antonio, TX. "It's real light and easy to maneuver. Also, my clients are impressed that they're getting professional equipment on the job." And Mike Cunation, Sandusky, OH reports, "I've got nothing but praise for my SweepVac."

$30,000 is the average pay

Remember, $30,000 was the average yearly take-home pay of all chimney sweeps in 1988 – and half of them grossed over $100,000! If you're a SweepPak sweep, you've got a superior system going for you, and once you get started you can expect to do even better.

The SweepPak System also gives you expert technical, business and marketing support – at no additional cost – because our job is to help you succeed.

What does it cost to start sweeping with the SweepPak System – 35 pieces of specialized professional equipment including the amazing SweepVac? As little as $495 down, if you qualify, with no fees or franchise costs.

TERROR AT A NURSERY SCHOOL

4-YEAR-OLD — victim is rushed to the hospital after horrifying hostage incident

CRAZED gunman Serafettin Elmaoglu burst into a nursery school and held four children hostage — threatening to burn them alive!

Sicko douses 4 kids with gasoline & vows to burn them to a crisp!

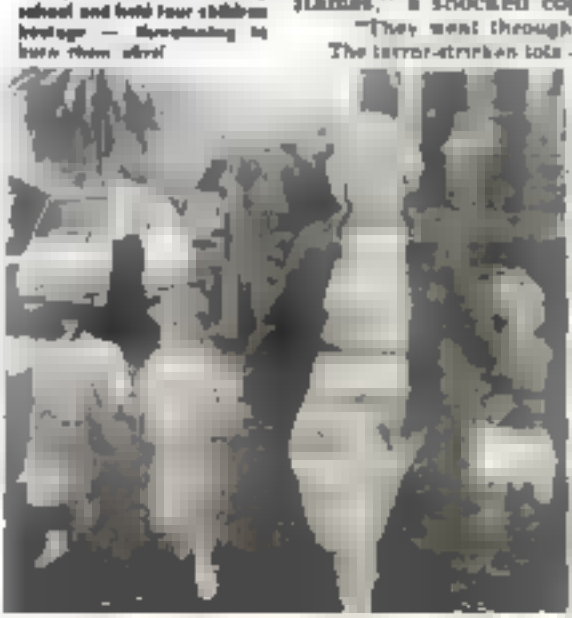
By JOE BERGER

A berserk gunman burst into a nursery school, doused four shrieking kids with gasoline and held them hostage for seven terrifying hours — threatening to burn them all to a crisp!

"Those little ones were just a match away from going up in flames," a shocked cop told reporters in Hawthorne, Australia.

"They went through seven hours of unspeakable hell — and so did we."

The terror-stricken tots — three boys and a girl, all just 4 years old — spent the day crouched in a corner while their crazed captor repeatedly threatened to roast them alive.



"Those little ones were just a match away from going up in flames!"

Screaming Serafettin Elmaoglu eventually surrendered to police and the shocked youngsters were rushed to a hospital, suffering from severe chemical burns caused by the gasoline.

"The children were in pretty bad shape, both physically and emotionally," said an assistant police commissioner, Frank Green, who refused to release the victims' names.

The youngsters would escape death as Serafettin Elmaoglu, who regularly abused pets in his classroom, carried a pistol, a knife and can of gasoline.

"Everybody — follow me!" shouted the wild-eyed Turkish immigrant.

Two quick-thinking teachers managed to lead the crying kids through a side door to the safety of a nearby church — but four terrified youngsters were left behind.

Elmaoglu [illegible] the hostages into a small room and splashed gasoline over their trembling bodies.

Outside, lawmen called out to him through loudspeakers and pleaded with him to release the kids and give himself up.

But the madman was determined to pressure authorities into hearing out his claims that a hospital maltreated his wife while she was there for a checkup.

And he repeatedly vowed to turn the tots into human torches if cops didn't locate him his getaway vehicle or arrest.

The chilling siege ended seven hours later when a reporter who'd interviewed Elmaoglu several days earlier about his complaint persuaded him to give up. He was jailed on kidnapping charges.

Sophros' message to those meeting the 5 conditions

It is true that I possess unusual powers. Some believe this is due to my direct (and distant) contact from the Krypton Temple. This is possible, but not certain. I am president of the Research and Studies Center and work closely with top scientists, psychiatrists and doctors. I have succeeded in adapting a technique discovered by the brilliant mathematician L. Ron Hubbard. He has used it to enter into an extraordinary multi-dimensional space. I have managed to create a virtual "mental screen" which combines perceptual flashes with images of pure psychic charm. I have agreed to cooperate in a major study of my psychic powers because this is the only necessary and final way to prove that they are real. But I can also state the immediate future and that I can make it possible to win large sums of money in the Lottery. Follow my advice carefully and the results will astound you. One final thing: please return this form as soon as possible. If you have the 5 conditions, I'm this right now as you will see happen. Just number five example. There is all you can submit to do in this time.

America's most outspoken columnist blasts Supreme Court ruling

Flag-burners have me pig-biting mad!

SUPERPATRIOT Ed Anger is outraged at the Supreme Court saying it's O.K. to burn Old Glory. He's got inside a book he's been working on to tell ALL!! anyone how he feels.

Editor's note: Columnist Ed Anger rejoins Weekly World News after two years spent working on a book called Workyear Memoirs Of A Korean Vet.

Ed Anger is a veteran of that war where he was wounded in the battle of Pork Chop Hill.

His skull was so badly smashed by mortar shrapnel doctors had to put a metal plate in his head to save his life.

He was awarded the Bronze Star for valor under fire.

We have Ed is married to Thelma Jean and has two children, Jimbo and Sarah Lee.

Jimbo and his wife Candy recently presented Ed with his first grandchild, Edward Roosevelt Anger. Ed says that's Roosevelt after Rough Rider Teddy — not Franklin.

Ed says the recent Supreme Court ruling that allows political protesters to burn the American flag was the motivating force behind his return.

I'm so mad I could bite through the barrel of an AK-47 assault rifle over the Supreme Court telling Americans they can burn Old Glory if they feel like it.

What those lily-livered, liberal judges should have done is make it against the law for anyone to burn the Stars and Stripes UNLESS some commie-loving creep is wrapped up inside it when it is set on fire.

The late, great patriotic Betsy Ross must be spinning in her grave at this disgrace to our flag.

The only thing that kept me and my buddies fighting mad on Pork Chop Hill in Korea was the sight of the old Red, White and Blue waving in the smoky hell of that bloody battle.

Even after I was hit by a mortar round I kept crawling toward those yellow devils, trampling the Star Spangled Banner through my clenched teeth, my machine gun blazing.

My wife Thelma Jean and I still stand under the flag on our front lawn every morning and recite the Pledge of Allegiance.

To think some limp-wristed, preening pinko can set my Grand Old Flag on fire and get away with it makes me pig-biting mad!

And when I think of these dirtballs burning even one of the many beautiful American flags Thelma Jean has sewn for our friends over the years, the metal plate in my head gets hotter than a firecracker!

If I ever see some creep burning my flag he'd better hope I don't have a can of Charco-Lite and a book of matches.

We'll have a good old Fourth of July barbecue — with him as the main course.

READERS' POLL

Ed Anger is really riled up about flag burning. Do you agree with him?

Please check one answer below and mail your reply to Ed Anger Poll, Weekly World News, 600 South East Coast Avenue, Lantana, Fla. 33462. We'll publish the results in a future issue.

Knucklehead drug dealer dials the wrong number — and gets the cops!

By RAYMOND MARK

A suspected drug dealer tried to page a customer to discuss a deal but dialed the wrong number — and reached a cop instead!

"It was pure stupidity on his part," Detective Ralph Gibson of the Oklahoma City Police Department said. "When I got the call on my pager I didn't recognize the number but I decided to dial it anyway.

BAD LUCK BRIDE

Her three husbands have all died — on their wedding day!

By BEATRICE DEXTER

"What's wrong with me?"

That's the anguished question grieving bride Marie Bonabel is asking — after all three of her husbands died of a heart attack on their wedding day.

The pretty blonde secretary from Brussels, Belgium, says she has sought psychiatric help in dealing with her ordeals. Nature ordeal, but still cannot live with what has passed to her.

"I've been with three fellas and I'm still a virgin," the 33-year-old woman told Belgian magazine Women's Day. "The doctors say each of my husbands had health problems and it is nothing I've done — but I just can't stop feeling guilty.

"Now I'm afraid to fall in love again — for fear I'll kill the next man I marry."

Marie's haunted life began in 1972 when she met handsome Leo Jacquemyn and married him. The couple had only been together for a romantic honeymoon in the Alps — but tragedy hit their holiday short.

As the newlyweds were preparing for bed on their wedding night Leo suddenly clutched his chest and fell to the floor. He was pronounced dead of a heart attack by the hotel doctor an hour later.

Two years later, Marie got married again — this time to a 41-year-old widower, Hubert de Vandier. They spent private ceremony and followed by a reception with family and friends, then a plane trip to Norway for a Scandinavian honeymoon.

On the flight to Oslo, Hubert choked on a piece of steak and suffered a heart attack. He was dead by the time the plane landed.

"After that I swore I'd never get myself through this again. I won't kill another innocent man."

Then when I met Albert I vowed he was so persistent. He kept after me until I agreed to date him and then he insisted we might get married.

Writer says he goofed on end of the world

By NICK DONOVAN

Oh, my God! Here it comes again — the beginning of the end of the world!

If you want to mark your calendar, the final curtain will start falling on September 1, according to Edgar Whitehead, who had previously scheduled the big day for the same date last year.

"I made a mistake last year," the retired NASA worker said from his Little Rock, Ark., home.

My calculations were all by the book.

"But I believe my mistake was God's will," he continued. "He answered my prayers and saved the world."

Whitehead, 56, has written The Feast Shall Rapture Report '88, which details the beginning of the end set for September 1.

Whitehead's calculations are based on the Bible's Book of Revelation, which says that the world will end seven years after the Jewish people return to Israel.

Israel became a nation again in 1948, and Whitehead says that 40 years is a generation, so the end will come in 1988.

He says the world will end when two-a-gram Christians will be silenced through the Pearly Gates on September 1 in what he calls the "rapture."

Everyone else apparently will have to stay here on Earth and take whatever God has in store for them.

Whitehead blamed his miscalculation on the Gregorian calendar which counts only 99 years for the first century. Calculations begin at the 100 mark.

"But I believe my mistake was God's will," he continued. "He answered my prayers and saved the world."

Whitehead, 56, has written The Feast Shall Rapture Report '88, which details the beginning of the end set for September 1.

Drag racing buses crash and kill 20

Twenty people were killed and 33 more were injured when a pair of buses that were taking them to a wedding got into a race — and crashed!

Turkey's Anatolia news agency said the buses were racing down a highway about 100 miles from the capital Ankara when they collided.

Both vehicles spun out of control and smashed. Another seven died on the way to a hospital. And 33 others required hospital treatment for their injuries.

We've all seen the hot news reports on the scientific liquid diets! We've watched our favorite talk show hostess go from "fat to fabulous" in practically no time. Our mouth's watered for that magic which that would transform us into slim, svelte, sirens. We dreamed of body-hugging Calvin Kleins and black leather mini skirts. Then the rude awakening:

"Linda, one of our best case histories says, "I just 20 pounds to get into my new bathing suit, 10 pounds the first week."

DOCTORS AND WEIGHT LOSS EXPERTS ANNOUNCED THAT THE MONEY PUBLICIZED LIQUID DIETS WERE NOT FOR THE MODERATELY OVERWEIGHT.

For the millions of us who want to lose 15 to 20 pounds that was disappointing news. But here's happy, hopeful, beautiful news for people who simply want to drop a dress size or two - or to tighten those belts a few notches.

It's the "Take Off 20 Diet Plan." This new modified liquid diet plan was developed with a PhD in nutritional

IF YOU READ NOTHING ELSE, READ THIS

The "Take ON 20 Diet Plan" is an effective means to lose weight. The exceptional results reported here represent our best case histories and are not typical. Studies show that typical users on diet plans lose approximately one to two pounds per week. Naturally, results vary depending on how much you are over your ideal weight. Do not use the meal replacement drink as a sole source of daily meals. You must follow the entire diet plan which lowers caloric intake which is essential to the reduction of fat and body weight. Before beginning this or any diet, you should check with your physician to make sure you are in normal good health. Pregnant women and nursing mothers, individuals who have heart and cardiovascular conditions, stroke, kidney disease, diabetes, gout, hypoglycemia, chronic infections, the very elderly, growing children, adolescents, or anyone under medical care for any other condition, should diet only under direct medical supervision.

headquarters in conjunction with a leading nutritional laboratory. It was specifically designed to get rid of those extra 20 pounds so many of us lug around. Results of the new plan have been phenomenal.

"Best case however, has as much as:

- 20 lbs. in 1 week
- 4" from waist in 3 weeks
- 15 lbs. in 2 weeks

These were people massively overweight, people like many of us who need to lose 15-20 pounds. Imagine the thrill of seeing the dress on the rack, maybe in fashion colored colors plus always you get the benefits of a liquid diet but get to eat many of your favorite foods - even enjoy special meals.

You simply drink the vitamin and mineral fortified meal replacement for two meals a day and follow our diet for your third meal.

Everyone loves shake this month delicious tasting, thick shakes - and you get your choice of Rich, rich, French Vanilla or Fudge Be Chocolate. Both are instantly for a wonderfully filling meal replacement.

" Jo Ann, one of our most successful case histories of the Take Off 20 Diet Plan says: "I lost 6½ pounds the first week. And I'm back in a size 8."

Wild-eyed romeo insures bride for $400G — then murders her!

Wild-eyed romeo Dennis Larson took out a $400,000 life insurance policy on his bride and shoved her off an 80-foot cliff — just three weeks after they wed!

Prosecutor Jeffrey Hjelm, who won a murder conviction against Larson in Ellsworth, Maine, said the victim, 26-year-old Kathy Frost, met Larson through a lonely hearts ad he'd placed in the personal column of the Bangor Daily News.

"It was the usual sort of ad that said 'Gentleman looking for a woman for lasting relationship,'" according to the prosecutor.

The day after they were married, smooth-talking Larson, 28, took out a life insurance policy on his bride that would pay him $400,000 in the event she died accidentally.

"Exactly three weeks after they were married Larson took his wife to Acadia National Park and pushed her to her death from an 80-foot cliff," Hjelm said.

Richard Salhenar a longtime friend of Larson, testified during the murder trial that his pal had talked about a scheme to marry, have an accident and collect the insurance money.

Another witness, insurance agent Joseph Wanago, testified that Larson was paid $30,000 following the disappearance of his first wife, Leslie, who vanished in Montana and is presumed dead. This case is still under investigation.

Larson was convicted of murder and ordered held without bond pending sentencing. He faces life in prison.

Bill looks like just a harmless waifle, but a jury found that Dennis Larson, right, killed his young bride in cold blood.

Mom-in-law is topic, says survey

Most all those old mother-in-law jokes, guys — a new survey says she is popular and appreciated by an overwhelming number of married couples.

A poll of 5,000 husbands and wives by Parenting magazine revealed 90 percent of couples thought their mother-in-law was affectionate and supportive. And 91 percent would be glad to live with them.

A small percentage still believe their mother-in-law is a wedding troublemaker.

Wives tended to be tougher on their mothers-in-law than husbands.

"The mother-in-law is a valuable resource in these days of single parents and working couples because she can baby-sit," said psychologist Patricia Elder-Parker.

"Day-care is difficult to get and often expensive, and having a friend/relative to help take care of children is very much healthier than day-care," she said.

Burglar drops in on cops

A burglary suspect escaped from an interrogation room by climbing into an overhead air-conditioning duct — but his freedom was short-lived.

The duct was a dead end. And when the sulking suspect pulled the 19-year-old's weight four hours later, the suspect landed on the floor in front of two cops. Robert Cuevas, of Miramar, Fla., was charged with burglary and escape.

Dad's promise to wife who died in [redacted]

I'll raise triplets myself!

By SUSAN JIMISON

Determined dad Sean Driscoll never held a baby until a few weeks ago. Now he's raising triplet sons — on his own!

The young father has vowed he'll love and care for his newborn sons alone now that their mother Sherree is dead.

He told Sherree on her deathbed he'd keep the family together, as he's going to offer love and stability to the children he's had to the promise he made.

Sherree gave her life for them. Sean, a sales executive from Eagle Rock, said: "I will spend my life devoting to them.

"I am going to bring them up by myself. This will not need a mother."

Sean says already he knows significantly nothing about could have but he's planning to learn as he goes. And he's going to raise Sherree's 8-year-old son, Ben, as a grandson and Paige, six.

That's the least he can do for the woman he fell head over heels in love with the moment he spotted her six years ago.

She was such a happy, cheerful person. She loved children and said she'd like to have a large family. I knew right away I could spend the rest of my life with her.

We were delighted to discover Sherree was expecting triplets. Now I can't feel that inside Baby.

Sherree died [illegible] when she began hemorrhaging following the premature birth of the babies last month. Little Steven, Deb and Chris weighed a little more than three and a half pounds at birth but they are in great health and doing well. For them, even the delivery was deadly.

Sherree lingered for eight days as desperate doctors worked to stop her bleeding and save her life. She received a staggering 180 pints of blood and underwent several operations, but in the end her heart failed and she died.

OWNER OF TEEN CLUB MADE PORNO VIDEOS IN GIRLS' JOHN, SAY COPS

Teenaged girls were shocked when they learned the owner of a popular teen club had been charged with making obscene videotapes of them using the girls' bathroom.

Police in Roanoke, Va., arrested Randall Ahern, owner of Club 18, after an employee revealed he'd found 4 video tapers and obscene tapes in the rest room.

"We seized a lot of films," said Lt. Donald Shields of the Roanoke Police Department.

"On one film there were 22 different girls recorded. Mr. Ahern has made no official statement to police, but he's told the media he did it for security purposes."

Lt. Shields said the Club 18 was a favorite hangout for young people aged 13 to 21. The nightspot had a disc jockey and served non-alcoholic beverages. Parents loved the club because it was considered safe for their children.

Ahern has been charged with possessing and manufacturing pornographic film and using people under the age of 18 to make pornography, police sources said.

It came as a shock to the community when Ahern was charged with placing video recorders in the ceiling of the girls' rest room.

No recorders were found in the boys' rest room, police said.

Officials want to save rhinos — sawing their horns

By JOE HEGER

Frantic African officials are trying to save the continent's few remaining rhinos — by sawing off their horns!

Money-grubbing poachers armed with automatic rifles and chain saws have been killing off the massive animals to retrieve their horns, which sell for up to $50,000 apiece on the black market.

So conservationists have begun shaving down the rhinos with tranquilizer guns and removing the sleeping animals' horns. They're taking this drastic action to save the critters' lives by making them worthless to poachers.

"We don't know if this operation is going to work, but it's an experiment worth trying," said Leon van Rooyen, a wildlife boss in Namibia.

The deforested animals are being moved to a single refuge to keep them safe from each other.

"The next immediate fight is economic, so our main concern is to make sure we don't have one with horns among others without them," said ranger Rudi Loots.

Hundreds of thousands of black rhinos once roamed Africa, but fewer than 3,500 survive today.

A RAT got tangled in Dianne Pursell's hair at the movies, her mom claims.

I got a rat tangled in my hair at the movies, says horrified girl

Teenager Dianne Pursell says she went to the movies one afternoon — and got a rat tangled in her hair!

The experience was so traumatic for Dianne, 18, that she sued the theater in Margate, Fla., where she says the real-life horror took place.

She wasn't hurt, she said in a suit filed with the Broward County Circuit Court, but she has become such a captive worry she can no longer go into dark rooms or sleep without the TV on.

"Just talking about it makes her cry," said Alyssa Dutcher, an attorney for the distraught young woman. "Now the problem has spreaded to other situations. She can't go into dark garages or laundry rooms. She can't go to the theater anymore. There are a lot of emotional damages."

According to the attorney, the rat incident occurred when Dianne went to see Three Men and a Baby at a discounted theater in May of 1988 with her husband Thomas and young 7-year-old brother. The trio sat next to the wall in about the third row, Miss Dutcher said.

"During the movie something jumped across from where her brother was sitting and landed on the back of Dianne's chair," the attorney said.

"It scratched across her and she thought it was her husband's arm.

"Then she realized it was crawling over her hair. It was a big rat — about 10 inches long without the tail — and as soon as Dianne realized what it was she began to cry and loud. She was shouting, 'I want to go home!' The rat panicked and got caught in her hair. Finally it went down her face, leaving scratches on her face and her ear.

"She later went to the hospital, where she was treated for scratches."

The incident was reported to the health department, Miss Dutcher said, and department inspectors allegedly found evidence of rodents in the theater.

Dianne filed suit for negligence against the owners of the Margate Twin Cinema and Auerbach Associates Inc., the company that manages the mall where the theater is located.

"I find the whole thing hard to believe," said a manager for the theater.

"I haven't seen any rats around here."

It's going to cost taxpayers a whopping $480,000 to send Sharon Ann Thomas to prison for stealing a $10 purse!

The 30-year-old Tucson woman was sentenced under Arizona's mandatory sentencing laws which require that she get 10 years behind bars for stealing the purse while on a work furlough program from prison.

Assistant Public Defender Sharon Mills asked a Pima County judge to sentence Miss Thomas to less than the mandatory term.

But Judge Michael Alfred said the law is the law and gave her the 10 years in spite of the estimated $40,000 it costs to clothe, feed and care for a prisoner each year.

TOP PSYCHIC JAILED IN BUG SPRAY ATTACK!

SUSPECT psychic Mickl Dahne sprayed a man in the face with Raid, say cops.

By JACK ALEXANDER

World famous psychic Mickl Dahne was slapped in jail after cops heard that she sprayed one of her tenants in the face with a can of Raid.

She squirted man with Raid, say cops

The pyramid-shaped mattress was hauled to the Broward County jail for violating a court restraining order that had been issued only eight days earlier.

Miss Dahne, 67, sprayed Stephen Welsch, 61, twice with the bug killer as he sat on a chair outside his Hollywood, Fla., apartment, according to police reports.

The police report said Welsch told cops the sprayed him through a window screen. Then opened a nearby door and sprayed him directly, inhaling into his face and police.

Aware that Miss Dahne was under a court order to stay away from Welsch, Hollywood cops called the sheriff's office.

Deputies arrested Miss Dahne for violation of the restraining order, issued June 9 by Circuit Judge Geoffrey Cohen. Miss Dahne had been served with the order June 11.

Welsch told police the report to keep Miss Dahne away from his because of a long-standing feud between the two. He alleged he was afraid of her.

Welsch said in his complaint his landlady has cooked him with a pet rat in his and also broke into his apartment and beat him up before cops pulled her off of him.

Sheriff's records show Miss Dahne was arrested June 17 at 7:30 p.m. and taken to Hollywood Memorial Hospital when she complained of feeling ill. She was released from the hospital and booked at the Broward County jail the next day at 5:29 a.m. She was released June 19 at 12:25 p.m. after posting a surety bond.

Miss Dahne has been ordered to appear at a hearing before Judge Cohen to show cause why she shouldn't be held in contempt of his order.

The day before the well known psychic was arrested, a restraining order was executed by her against Welsch and Larry Glover, who she alleged also lives at the Hollywood apartment.

She claimed Glover has tripped her, Welsch has threatened her and both have attacked her, according to her divorce petition for the restraining order.

"They (Welsch and Glover) are using the criminal justice system to gain an advantage in a civil proceeding," said Miss Dahne's lawyer, Pam Perry.

"It's Miss Dahne's apartment. She wants them out. They have no lease and she has initiated eviction proceedings," said Miss Perry.

Sicko sends fake AIDS letters

Startled Iowa residents have been receiving letters warning them they should be tested immediately for AIDS — but the official-looking letters are all phonies!

"It's slanderous . . . malicious," said Ken Seeger, head of the state health division. The handful of letters reported so far are professionally printed on what appears to be Health Department stationery, officials said.

The letters make false accusations — such as drug use — against recipients and others close to them. Then go on to say they should be tested for AIDS because of these activities.

Mom chopped her babies' heads off, say cops

By SUSAN JIMISON

A terrified mom beheaded her babies, cops say, after she became convinced they weren't her real children — but exact replicas or clones of her kids.

Linda Lou Race, 37, told police she found the dolls in the bathroom of her home in Gilbert, Ariz., where she was heard telling them, "You thought that you were going to kill me, but now you are not my real babies. I killed them."

Race told police she used a knife to behead the dolls, which she said she purchased at a local department store.

Police said Race told them she had been hearing voices telling her that the dolls were not her children.

TO get the ball into the milk can, toss it in a high arc, says carnival games expert

Expert tells you how to win at carnival games

By RANDY SCOTT

You can win carnival games left and right without going broke with tips from a midway expert!

All you have to do is learn a few tricks, master them with practice and get down to the nearest carnival and rake in the prizes.

That advice comes from author Matt Chrystie, who has studied carnival games for years.

Chrystie reveals his tips for winning in his riveting new book, Carnival Secrets (Zenith Press, P.O. Box 240, Royal Oak, Mich. 48068).

Here's a list of popular carnival games and how to beat them:

● Ring a Bottle. The object of the game is to toss plastic or wooden rings over the necks of soft drink bottles that are arranged in rows.

Improve your chances by stacking two rings and throwing them at the same time. Ask the operator of the game before you try it — some won't let you toss more than one ring at a time.

● Skee-Ball. The object of the game is to roll a wooden ball into one of five holes at the end of a short alley. You can rack up big points by rolling the ball so hard that it shoots up into the safety net at the end of the alley and drops down into a hole.

CARNY Ken Webb sells the distinction on the midway.

SKEE-BALL is "the heart of the action on every amusement park," says Samuel Nigh, former owner of the company

Trouble is, the ball has to make it stick. Line up your shot so that the coin will bounce off one plate and head up one further down the line.

Also try leaving the coin to the far back edge of the plate. If it lands flat, the coin should rebound and stick in the center of the plate.

● Stack the Balloon. The object is to pop balloons with darts for a prize. Always aim for fully inflated or taut balloons. They're easiest to pop.

● Basket Basket. The object is to toss a softball into a basket and make it stay. The secret? Arc the ball high so that it drops straight down into the basket.

● Bowler Roller. The object of the game is to roll a bowling ball over a slanted track and keep it from rolling back. Unlike some carnival games, part about anybody can win consistently with practice.

Problem there is that the average person needs to roll 12 balls to get in the groove and start winning.

Chrystie also advises you to:

● Steer clear of any game that offers expensive prizes like television sets or gold jewelry.

The games are rigged or by their very nature are virtually impossible to win.

● Master one or two games and stick with them to win the best and most prizes.

● Ask questions and demand the right to inspect game pieces if you think something is fishy. "People should always ask questions about the games," said Chrystie. "It's their money."

AUTHOR Matt Chrystie with some of the prizes he's won.

— because he didn't want to wait for the bus in the rain!

A 7-year-old boy got behind the wheel of a 1988 Buick and drove himself to school because he didn't want to wait for his bus in the rain!

Jason Richa stands on the short side of 4 feet tall but he maneuvered the full-sized sedan through three miles of rush hour traffic and got to class unscathed — as was [illegible]

"It's amazing that nobody was hurt or killed," Sheriff Sgt. Garry Demeter of the police department in Carswell, Calif. said.

"The boy isn't quite 4 feet tall, which means he probably had to stand up to drive. We still don't understand how he managed to do it. As far as we know, he didn't have any previous driving experience."

The drama began when the boy stepped outside to wait on the school bus, saw that it was running and chased to his mother Judith Richa.

"He came back into the house and said, 'Mommy, it's running,'" said Mrs. Richa. "I told him, 'Your bus will be coming. Go back outside and wait.'"

A few minutes later the woman looked out a window and saw young Jason inching down the street in her boy-friend's Buick.

"Jason was behind the wheel doing everything as we supposed to do — stopping, putting on turn signals," said Mrs. Richa, who chased the car as fast as two blocks before returning home to call the cops.

Officers quickly intercepted Jason on his way to school so that the boy — and car — had arrived intact.

According to Sgt. Demeter, officers took the boy to police headquarters and instructed him on the perils of driving underage and without training or a license.

"We're treating it as a lark," said the cop.

"There's nothing else we can do about it under Canadian law."

Pizza guy won't let go of slice

A robber who tried to hijack a free piece of pizza went away hungry when the brave clerk refused to hand over the slice in him.

Devinder Singh said a man came into his Toronto, Canada, pizza shop one evening, ordered a $1.50 slice and then pulled a knife when it was ready.

But Singh held onto the piece of pizza and the robber fled empty-handed.

Nuts kill man!

A man who was allergic to nuts died after eating a Brazil nut and an almond.

Darryl Reid, 35, was driving near Kamloops, Canada, when his female companion gave him the nuts.

He died of an allergic-induced heart attack.

MOM FED HER BABY KOOL-AID, NYQUIL AND MILK

...and starved the ill-nourished to death!

By TED FAXTON

A self-centered 26-year-old woman "who cared for nobody but herself" fed her infant son tiny amounts of Kool-Aid, milk and Nyquil until he slowly starved to death.

The woman is self-centered, egotistical and vain for nobody but herself," Ann Beagle, who prosecuted the case in Wichita, Kans., said.

She was much more concerned with riding and feeding her boyfriend than taking care of her baby. She had no room in her world for him at all."

Karen Reynolds was charged with first-degree murder in the death of her 11-month-old son, Jonathan, who died of dehydration and malnutrition late last year.

Mrs. Reynolds reportedly pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter and was given the maximum sentence of three to ten years in prison, prosecutor Beagle said.

Prosecutor Beagle didn't buy it. She said that the woman had the money, time and intelligence to care for her son and didn't really care if he lived or died. And relatives and babysitters testified that the woman fed the child only tiny amounts of milk, Kool-Aid and the adult cold medication Nyquil, Miss Beagle said.

Land of the rising tum?

Japanese teens have rebelled from their traditional low-calorie meals to American-style junk food — and it is turning them into fatsos.

A startling new survey reveals 20 percent of Japanese boys and almost 9 percent of the girls are overweight — almost double the level of the early 1970s.

"Unhealthy" American eating habits — hamburgers and potato chips," said Emiko Hiratsuka, a Tokyo school nutritionist.

The increase in fast food shops, vending machines and [illegible] has added to the weight problem.

The average urban Japanese household spends about 30 percent of its weekly food budget on processed food, a big jump from 40 percent in the 1960s.

An increasing number of children suffer from obesity, say doctors. "These kids have signs of diabetes or heart disease," said Dr. Makoto Ohno.

The average Japanese adult consumes 2,000 calories a day, far below the average for Western countries. "The size of the younger generation edges far more than that," said Dr.

Brave cop rebuilds his shattered life after his face is blown away by shotgun

By SUSAN JAMISON

An utterly drunk hires police officer Ken Tuthill's face off with a shotgun — but he didn't put a dent in the cop's courage.

Three years later, Tuthill, 42, is planning to go back to work even though his face is so disfigured he cannot see, taste or smell and only has a portion of his tongue and upper jaw.

"There were times when I felt like giving up, but what's the point?" the Mattituck, N.Y., policeman explained. "But the people around me helped. I'm close to my family — closer than I was before I was hurt. I know I'm scarred, no matter what I look like."

Tuthill was [illegible] in a shopping center and stopped his police car to do some paperwork. Moments later he looked up to see the young [illegible] pointing a shotgun at him.

Tuthill's assailant blasted him in the face, blowing away chunks of his nose, mouth and jaw.

Tuthill hovered near death in a hospital for weeks but his loving wife Kathleen and teenaged sons Jeffrey and Christopher helped pull him through.

Now practically blind, Tuthill has already undergone 13 operations and will have more.

Yet he refuses to let his bad luck get him down. He's asked to be transferred to police work and is going to school to learn how to use a computer.

Tuthill has won the admiration of his fellow officers and even has managed to forgive the man who shot him.

"I feel sorry for the kid that shot me. He went and fucked up now and he'll be in jail a long time. That's not going to help me get better. I'm not going to let it bother me."

Tax cheat bragged he bilked IRS out of $350G, say feds

By RAFI KLINGER

IRS agents — who suspected Robert R. Burks of collecting $10,000 worth of fake refunds — were stunned when he allegedly boasted that he'd bilked Uncle Sam out of $350,000.

The 44-year-old jobless man from Oakland, Calif., reportedly bragged to IRS agents that he had filed refunds — and collected up to 70 — using 80 fake tax returns for a grand total of [illegible] whopping $350,000 worth of [illegible]. "We believe he made enough to have launched an investigation," said San Francisco IRS official Larry Wright.

"He said that he's got $350,000 stashed away and if the government doesn't cooperate fully with him — they'll never get it back."

Burks was wanted by the IRS for allegedly filing five false returns — one in 1987 and one in 1988 — for a total of $10,082.23 in refunds.

Agents claim Burks filed false W-2 forms with the tax returns saying he worked for a steel company in Pittsburg, Calif., and a locksmith in Dublin, Calif.

Agents called Burks and told him to report to the Oakland IRS office to collect his refunds.

He was nabbed by federal agents when he walked in the door.

That's when he turned the tables and surprised them by allegedly claiming he'd bamboozled the government out of $350,000.

Burks is being held without bail in San Francisco County Jail.

Man fined $156 for [illegible]

Getting nailed by cops for drunk driving was a costly experience for a Norwegian lawyer — who paid a hefty $18,000 fine.

The enormous fine levied by an Oslo court also included a 21-day suspended jail sentence. Norway fines drunk drivers based on their income.

The attorney earns about $100,000 a year.

College baseball team's star slugger was really a 32-year-old former pro

Slugger Don Johnson quickly turned his college baseball team into a powerhouse bound for a state title — until it was discovered that the new kid on campus was really a 32-year-old former professional player!

"He was just another kid, like all of them, so hungry for the game," said San Bernardino Valley College baseball coach Stan Sanchez.

by PETE COOK

Johnson showed up on the college campus in San Bernardino, Calif., claiming to be 20. He said he was starting college late because he'd done some time in jail.

In fact, Johnson had never been in jail, but had already been through college and had played some professional ball for Seattle and Oakland. But no one asked too many questions when Johnson tried out for the baseball team of San Bernardino and proved to be a power-hitting first baseman.

"He was an older-looking 22," Coach Sanchez said. "But he acted like a kid. He got fit like the other 19 and 20-year-olds, he had lots of energy for the game."

With six home runs and a solid .364 batting average, Johnson propelled his team to third conference title that would have given them a shot at the state championship.

But then Johnson's scheme started to unravel.

A college coach on a scouting trip thought Johnson looked an awful lot like a player with the same name who'd played pro ball. He mentioned this to Coach Sanchez.

"I brought the kid in and his fingerprints did not match," Sanchez said. He said that was his first experience with organized baseball. Of course, we had bought his story."

"I thought it was a mistake," said Johnson.

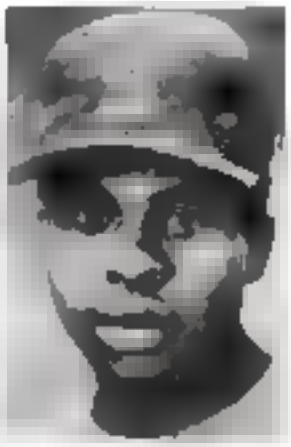
"I'm sorry," said Spencer Watkins, administrative representative for athletics at the college.

Watkins confronted Johnson about the rumors and the ball player offered to go home to pack up some documents that would prove he'd never played pro ball.

"That's the last I saw of him," Watkins recalled. "I knew checkout time was over and he proved to be bogus."

Johnson never returned to campus, leaving his roommates with a furnished mansion.

"He had this well planned out," Coach Sanchez said. "I guess he wanted one more taste of stardom. The guys were a big part of his life and that was a real bullet."



Don Johnson. The kid was a natural — and a phony.

Wives think Turks are turkeys

Turks are real turkeys when it comes to women's rights, a new survey shows.

Forty-five percent of men surveyed in 8,500 Turkish households said they'd beat their wives if they disobeyed.

And a whopping 82 percent of the husbands said wives should obey their husbands without question. The poll, conducted by researchers at Hacettepe University in Ankara, concluded that the position of women was still not too great, even though feminists have had full legal rights since the country was modernized in 1923.

If sex is so heavenly, why do I feel like hell?

Dear Dotti: I'm a 16-year-old girl and up till recently I was a virgin. But that all ended when I let my boyfriend talk me into having sex with him.

He's 18, and he said he'd had sex often and it was wonderful. Heavenly was the word he used.

Well, we tried it and it didn't live up. We've tried it a lot of times and I still hate every moment of it. My experience bothers me so much I just can't enjoy it. Now my boyfriend is mad at me. He says if I have it so much it's because I'm a hooker and he should split up.

Dotti, I'm not gay. I'm just a normal girl. But I can't take any more sex because it makes me feel so bad. I'm so confused. I don't want to lose my boyfriend, but I don't want to live in this misery either.

You are very wise and probably super sex, so please tell me what to do. — Bobby's Mommy In Hawley

Dear Bobby's Mommy: You're right. I do enjoy sex — but only with my husband. That's why my conscience doesn't bother me like yours does.

As I see it, you've got two choices. Either get Bobby to give you a ring and we don't hear any of your bad sex ever again. Or maybe you and

I'm torn between two lovers

Dear Dotti: I feel like I'm torn between two lovers.

I left my husband and moved in with another man for six months before he was free to marry. Then my husband and I decided to give our marriage another chance, but it's not working out.

My husband keeps bringing up my past. All we do is argue, then and fight about my ex-boyfriend and all the other lovers I've had.

I doubt that I'll ever get over my ex-lover and would probably still be with him if he wasn't in prison for pretty much the rest of his life.

I miss him very much, but I still would like to work it out with my husband because we have three children.

But if I stay for the children I know I'll be miserable and resentful.

42 city bigwigs head for the hills in fear of Mafia kidnappings

MAMMA MIA! WE DON'T WANNA BE MAYOR NO MORE!

EX-MAYOR Tino Petrucci still doesn't feel safe.

FORMER Mayor Ernesto Maluca has been kidnapped three times. He resigned.

By JOE REBER

Forty-two scared small-town mayors are quitting their jobs and heading for the hills — because they're being kidnapped by ruthless thugs every time they turn around!

Money-hungry hoods have abducted at least nine city bigwigs in southern Italy in just the past 18 months — and some have been kidnapped as many as three times.

"The situation is totally out of hand," said terrified Tino Petrucci, former mayor of a village outside Catanzaro.

"You can't do your job or live your life when you're afraid to go outside because there's going to be somebody out there waiting to grab you.

Many mayors still don't feel safe even after they quit, as they go into hiding and shut themselves off from the rest of the world.

Dozens of dismayed mayors resigned recently in wild-and-woolly Calabria, a rugged region overrun by brutal bandits — many of them with ties to the Mafia.

Kidnappings are commonplace as bandits seek to get their hands on ransom money. And mayors make good targets because of their prominence.

Nobody wants to be mayor anymore and who can blame them, said Ernesto Maluca, the mayor who was abducted by bandits three times during his term in office.

Crazed killer uses AIDS as his weapon — and no one can stop him!

A crazed killer is on the loose and nothing is being done to stop him — because the weapon he uses against his victims is the deadly disease called AIDS!

Psychiatrist Lee Van Bustaren of Washington, D.C., says her former patient, a bisexual man, has vowed to deliberately spread the virus. But although she has told doctors, lawyers, judges, public officials and hospital administrators about his intentions, he is still on the streets and having sex with strangers.

"It's been two years since he got AIDS and he is very promiscuous," Dr. Van Bustaren said. "Who knows how many people he has infected so far? He appears to be a docently functioning guy. You can't tell he's troubled."

The psychiatrist said she first learned of her madman-patient's murderous pursuits in 1987 when he came to her complaining of depression. The man was a homosexual who enjoyed one night stands with both men and women. He had been told a few months before that he tested positive for the AIDS antibody.

"He told me, 'At first when I found out I had AIDS I decided not to have sex with anyone, and then I got angry and said, "Let's conquer the world."'" Dr. Van Bustaren said. "He told me that sometimes when he got angry with someone, an inner voice told him, 'Let's get this guy,' and he would try to have sex with him."

When her patient told her he planned to go on having unprotected sex, Dr. Van Bustaren said she was so upset by the patient's revelations that she called dozens of people for advice on what she could do to stop him.

But one after another, doctors and hospital and public officials have refused to touch the case.

Beauty who seduced boy gets 3 months — in church

'A little religion never hurt anybody,' says judge

By JACK ALEXANDER

A beautiful young woman who seduced a 13-year-old boy in a boat has been ordered outdoors to attend church for three months.

"So far you have been allowed to sit down and there is no sense in your being a loner," Judge Fred A. Kelly told Jacqueline Thomas, 28.

Miss Thomas and William Black, 37, pleaded guilty to corrupting the teenager [illegible] "Dixie-Way" area with them during a housewarming in Mockingbird Creek.

As part of the woman's sentence, Judge Kelly ordered her to attend Sunday school, midday Sunday worship and Sunday evening services at the Catholic Rival Baptist Church, at a church of her choice.

"A little religion never hurt anybody," said the judge [illegible] "Maybe it will help [illegible] life around."

Judge Kelly stated that at least six character witnesses, including a prominent [illegible] up for Miss, who said he has found the Lord" since his arrest.

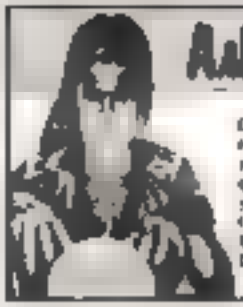
Am I getting the hustle from my hunky holy man?



Ask the Countess

Countess Sophia Sabak offers NEWS readers personal advice based on your horoscope. For answers to brief questions about your future, include your date of birth. Address letters to Countess Sophia Sabak, World's World News, 6th & East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462.

Dear Countess Sabak: I'm a 36-year-old divorcee, born under the sign of Cancer — July 1, 1950.

Recently I met this adorable man. He's a real hunk and is in his middle 30s. He moved in with me a couple of months ago, and I'm supporting him while he completes his education, which was given to him by God.

Ralph says God told him to prepare people for the final days, when Earth will be wiped out by a comet from outer space. He says the planetary alignments will be right for that comet to hit on December 12 this year.

In the meantime, Ralph says I should sell my house and take my money from the bank and give it to him so he'll have the ready cash to spread his message and get all the people to prepare for the final days. The amount of money involved will be about $87,000, including the money from the sale of my house.

Since I don't mind giving people to they can go to heaven, but Ralph made me real mad when he said he'd take the money and start his holy ministry there! — Steven

Do you think I'm being silly?

Dear Countess Sabak: I am married to a man who is 10 years my senior. He is pretty well-off financially, and in most ways we do get along great. However, he hasn't made love to me in years, and we don't communicate the way I think partners in marriage should.

Do you see a separation or a divorce in our future? I was born in June. My birth date is 6/13/48 and his is 10/31/38. — Lonely in Texas

Dear Lonely: Your chances for happiness in a long-term relationship appear slight and you'll be wise to be prepared for the worst.

Don't let the details you've been having about your marriage so overwhelm you that you lose sight of the fundamental aspects of the relationship.

I suggest that you remember some marriage counseling. You won't regret it, I promise you.

Dear Countess Sabak: My date of birth is 2/25/48 and my friend who lives in 5/8/38. We've been together for three years.

She wishes to proceeding to [illegible] marrying, and one of us [illegible] for boy we will wait until she dies before we marry.

Do you hear wedding bells won't like to be 10 years old.

I tried to call you, but found you are unlisted. — J.B. in North Carolina

Dear J.B. During the next few months you'll do well to carefully to possibly the unfavorable of the old woman's position. Persevere, and you will come out the winner.

After answering both of your charts, I feel certain the calculations you share now and in the future will be both long lasting and harmonious.

Dear Countess Sabak: I have been best friends with a lady for over 11 years. I am also a lady. Like any other friendship, we've had our problems. However, for the past three years we've been extremely close, and I've always tried to be there for her.

During the past two years she was married and divorced. When she left her husband she moved in with me and we became closer than ever.

All the time we lived together, her ex-husband kept at her until she finally went back to him.

This was several months ago, and I haven't heard from her since. I know that he's determined to never let her go, though. I care for her a lot and want to keep what we have.

My question is: Will our friendship remain in spite of what's happened, or do you think I'm being played out?

At present I'm single and unattached. What do you see in the future concerning my love life? Birth date 2/24/48. — B.A.S. in Vermont

Dear B.A.S. Aspects of Jupiter and Mars in Aquarius indicate that it's time to rethink the friendship and put it behind you.

Of course, it won't be easy for you, considering the length of your association, but soon done you'll be relieved to be out from under the emotional burden.

Be sure to socialize with friends you've neglected recently, for through them you'll be reunited with an old friend and happiness will follow.

Dear Countess Sabak: My son is married to a lovely girl and has one son. He is 36 years old.

The problem is that he has never stayed with a job for more than two years.

I would like to know if he will ever find a good job, one that he likes and will stay with longer than his years. His date of birth is 8/7/38. — L.C. in California

Dear L.C. Your son's chart indicates that the problems he's been having in the [illegible] will soon end.

By early fall an opportunity in an unexplained field will open up and prove to be the only profession he's been looking for.

Fun-lover's funeral ends with a BANG!

Dead man's ashes launched in a skyrocket

By HART WILLIAMS

A Chinese businessman didn't want to be buried after his death so he arranged to have his cremated remains packed into a skyrocket — and launched at his funeral!

Hsieh Wei, 79, of Matsu, Taiwan, got his wish. While a crowd of over 200 friends and relatives watched, a funeral director struck a match and lit the fuse of a 25-inch rocket — which shot high into the nighttime sky and exploded in a shower of silver, gold and blue sparks.

"It was quite a funeral," the old man's son, Yen Wei, told newsmen. "Father was a fun-loving man and a little bit eccentric.

"I thought he was crazy when he asked us to put his ashes in a rocket. But when the thing took off and blew up, I was overjoyed.

"I knew he had done the right thing."

Friends of the dead man agreed. Although many had their doubts about the [illegible] when they were shot high in the sky with a rocket at his funeral, and hundreds of relatives and friends watched to see if it exploded in a shower of silver, gold and blue sparks.

Mr. Hsieh's funeral is the beginning, when all was said and done, they called it "spectacular."

"Now that I've seen what it looks like I might arrange to have my ashes scattered in a rocket when I die," said Chen Li-tai, a longtime friend of Hsieh. "I might even go Hsieh one better and use a skyrocketing casket. When it explodes, sparks could spell out the word 'Goodbye.'"

Funeral director Chang Tung-li said that the skyrocket funeral has attracted interest from all over the world. Less than a week after Hsieh's ashes were launched, Chang had received over 300 calls from as far away as Sweden, France, Italy, England and the United States.

"First they wanted to know if the story was true," he said. "Then they wanted to know if I could tell them how to get skyrockets that can hold ashes.

"This type of funeral could really catch on," he added. "I guess it's a romantic thing. People get the feeling that their loved ones are being sent directly into heaven."

'Female blues' big cause of stress in gals' prisons

Ladies in lockup would get along better, a psychologist told prison officials, if they could get help dealing with premenstrual syndrome.

Psychologist Kate Hurd of Minneapolis says women in prison — including female guards — all go through behind bars, menstruate at the same time of the month. Hurd told participants at the Third National Workshop [illegible] most stressful time is the week before menstruation when many experience mood swings, depression and anxiety.

The psychologist recommended counseling, support groups and stress management techniques to reduce violence among

Roller coaster champ

Dan Heing, 36, is claiming a world record for rides on a single roller coaster after taking his 5,000th spin on the Racer at Kings Island amusement park in Ohio.

And the Cincinnati man says he's not about to get off the ride anytime soon. Heing began riding the roller coaster at the Kings Island amusement park in 1981.

Pistol-packing preacher Earnest Tudor says he would "blow any two-bit punk straight to hell" who messed with his wife or his church.

By JACK ALEXANDER

"I've got a right to protect what's mine," said the Rev. Tudor, a God-fearing minister in Kennesaw, Ga., who has been doing the Lord's work for 63 years.

"I've got my gun handy. I'm willing an ready," he said.

The Rev. Tudor, 78, is never without one of his five guns when he makes his rounds into a night at the Gospel Light Baptist Church, where he has pastor for 18 years.

"I've never had to shoot anyone and I hope I never do, but the Scriptures say a man who won't provide for his family — and that includes protection — is denied the faith and is worse than an infidel," he said. "I will shoot to kill if I have to. I wouldn't want anyone to push me."

Every family should have a gun, says the wiry old preacher. "Why should criminals be allowed to load up on guns and shoot decent people just because they're too lazy to get out and work for a living?" he said.

'Every family should have a gun,' says wiry preacher

Tudor favors a 5- to 10-day waiting period for people buying guns. Children should be taught how to use a gun before their parents give them one, he said.

"I went hunting with my dad when I was 10 years old," said Tudor. "He taught me respect for firearms and I've never lost that respect.

"I would not hesitate to shoot anybody without they bothered me, my wife, my kin or my church," he said. "I would shoot them dead and take the consequences."

He couldn't swing the deal

A realtor may have closed the deal with a Bonnie location in Clay made the rounds of a two-bedroom cottage except for one thing — the corpse dangling from a rafter.

They had received the bottom of the asking by the $130,000 home when they saw the body of Robert Prebble, 34, who had hanged himself.

Prebble still owned the house in Cadbrook, England, but had moved out when he separated from his wife.

"It was a huge shock," said the realtor. "I have spoken to the client many times, like me, pictures of that awful sight are coming back to him every 10 minutes."

To date, no one has bought the well-kept cottage.

Meet the cannonball baby!

Baby Zachary shot into the world like a cannonball, according to his proud mom Debbie Easler.

By SUSAN JAMISON

The tiny tyke arrived so fast he:

- Popped out of mom and shot off the recliner where Debbie was sitting
- Skidded across the carpet
- Suffered carpet burns on his cheeks and knees

But today he's the picture of health.

"He began crying as soon as he hit the floor," Debbie said. "I couldn't believe it."

The 8-pound 6-ounce boy wasn't supposed to arrive in his Germantown, Md., home until around June 10 according to the doctors. But the dark-haired infant had his own schedule to meet.

Early on May 27 33-year-old Debbie felt the first gauge of labor. By morning the pains were coming regularly and getting stronger so her doctor called the doctor and was told to bring her daughter to the hospital.

But Debbie never made it — because Zachary preferred to arrive at home. When he ap-

"Daddy, baby's on the floor."

"She was just scared to death," her father, Ray, recalled. "She said, 'Daddy, don't let my baby die.'"

A top emergency medical team arrived not long after 8-inch-long Zachary had been cleaned up, and the baby and mother were taken to the hospital. They're home now and doing fine.

"He's a beautiful baby," Debbie told The NEWS, "but he's still in a hurry. He's pulling on weight real fast!"

ME'S sitting still now, but baby Zachary Easler came into the world like a cannonball, according to his proud mom Debbie. Seems the little guy just couldn't wait.

GIANT HOBOSCOPE

By Countess Sophia Sabah

ARIES

Mar. 21-Apr. 19

You have a financial advantage this week which brings successful pursuits in business dealings. Be sure to read the fine print carefully, and proceed with caution.

Avoid asserting your Aries personality in dealing with loved ones. Let someone else have the last word for a change.

Try to remember that there's a lot more to style than buying the latest fashion. Your shopping sprees and your flowing classic are a hit match. It's long past time to take inventory.

TAURUS

Apr. 20-May 20

With the movement of your ruling planet — Venus — orbiting closer early this year, your social life should be on the upswing.

Begin preparations for a burst of activity by upgrading your lifestyle.

Although both signs under this sign tend to spruce up, it is the male Taurus who should pay attention to the small details of good grooming.

Spruce up your art of work.

In matters of chance and speculation, avoid using the number 5.

GEMINI

May 21-June 20

A burden that has been distressing both emotionally and financially will be lifted from your shoulders.

As a Gemini, you like to keep on the move, and this week the opportunity for travel exists. Be ready to pack on a moment's notice.

Single Geminis may find the relationship they thought would last "for life" is over.

Don't despair, as another is waiting in the wings to heal your broken heart.

CANCER

June 21-July 22

Relentless pleas for you to perform visits. It will take diplomacy on your part to avoid arguments, but later you'll be glad that you did.

You are looking for a new project to occupy your spare time. Hobby shops and lumber yards are a good source of free pamphlets which suggest ideas. However, your Cancer originality could lead you to an altogether source of income.

A garage sale yields a real find, so start checking the papers for times and places.

LEO

July 23-Aug. 22

Keep your wits about you when dealing with transactions, especially those associated for charitable contributions. Verify the identification of the person collecting the funds.

Both single and married Leos find that their love relationships deepen during this period. Try to work out your schedules so that you can spend as much time together as possible.

Sending a bouquet of flowers to a loved one is a good idea.

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

A new acquaintance, most likely a Libra or Capricorn, will ask you for a date.

It may not lead to the romance you are seeking, but could provide a pleasant interlude.

Female Virgos — time in your solar year now, so step for a new outfit, or highlight what you have with interesting accessories.

It's not too late to plan that summer vacation. You've had a secret desire to visit an exotic resort, so indulge yourself.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Your request for help from high-ranking may be refused. Don't despair! This week your judgment is right on target, so use your own resource in overcoming difficulties.

Negative comments about you may deal a blow to your self-image. Try to use the criticism constructively, because aware of body image and the importance of the proper attire for the occasion.

A friendship that you have considered casual will take on new meaning.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

Many events that take place this week could be considered falling the out out of the bag. Don't let it throw you.

You have been neglecting the love of your life because of too much involvement with outside activities.

It's time to take a breather, and spend your energies on the home front.

An elderly person plays a significant role during this period. Listen carefully in — and heed — their well-intentioned advice.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

The movement of the planets favors single Sagittarians this week. Time to get out and about socially, as romance is on the sporting. Meeting new people in new places under new circumstances could close the way for an exciting love interest.

Display a sense of responsibility in your work situation, as an increase in salary is imminent for those who qualify.

Persons have problems with personal property and may need your help, but are reluctant to ask for it.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

It's time to show independence and originality, along with a willingness to cooperate with co-workers. A real leader-follower situation exists, but with diplomacy you can maintain your balance.

A new approach may be required to deal with a recurring and disturbing situation with an in-law. Consult persons in the know for ideas and advice on how to handle the problem.

The lunar position highlights an auspicious time for romance.

If your birthday is this week . . .

It's going to be "happy trails" for you this year. Travel will be a definite plus and open up new career opportunities as well as allow you a chance for much-needed relaxation.

Personal relationships with loved ones, but you'll have to keep on guard. Backstabbers at the workplace will try to use you for a target. Keep alert and avoid confrontations.

A stranger wearing a gold chain with the letter "L" hanging from it will bring you great tidings.

A leather belt will be lucky for you and help you out of a tight spot. Romance is yours in the later months.

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

You'll have a confrontation with one whose ideas clash with yours. Try to keep an open mind, and listen to the other side of the issue. A hasty decision made in anger could lead to grave consequences.

You've been working long, hard hours and have earned the right to time to yourself. Take it, also the time to be responsive to family needs.

Single and divorced Aquarians find that this period favors marriage plans.

PISCES

Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Your love of gourmet dining catches up with you and causes digestive problems. Staying with a light diet this week, avoiding rich desserts and wheat products, may remedy the trouble.

Problems with an ex-spouse or lover, that you thought were settled, surface once again. Keep your cool. Under no circumstances allow this drive to be used as power.

A pleasant evening spent with friends and neighbors results about under surprising circumstances.

Weight Loss Pill Approved for U.S. Gov't. Patent

'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight Already Sweeping U.S.

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special) An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and put to test by two prominent doctors in a world famous hospital in Los Angeles who reportedly "guarantee" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their special fat-magnet pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctor's claims for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat magnet pill program before." It is a totally new and/or scientific way to help eight out of ten persons overcoming the weight loss problem.

You Can "Eat Normally"

Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without even trying."

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat magnet" pill because it breaks up thousands of particles, each being like a tiny magnet, attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body before they can get to your blood.

Within 2 days you should notice a change on the rules of your world, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Automatically" Lose Fat

According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fat breaking process is a "lazy way" to lose weight because the pills alone "automatically" reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and a delight."

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who say now slimmer, healthier and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public

If you are trying to lose 20, 30, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "miracle" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturers under the rules optimal calorie reductions plan for even faster results. Send $20 for a 10 pill supply (+$3 handling), or $35 for a 100 pill supply (+$3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9086 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. WS77, Beverly Hills, CA 90211 (Personal check money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expiration date and signature.) New drug keeps you awake for 3 days!

By DEREK CLOWTZ

Scientists have developed an array of new drugs that allow people to stay awake and alert for three days and nights with no serious side effects!

One such drug, called modafinil, is already being used with excellent results to control a condition called narcolepsy, which causes victims to nod off suddenly and without warning at all hours of the day and night.

The drugs could also be used to keep an army on its feet and fighting for three straight days and to reduce human error in monitoring such highly automated machines as airliners, experts at a science conference in Paris said.

Professor Michel Jouvet of France's INSERM medical research institute said the drugs had none of the bad side effects associated with amphetamines.

Man killed by exploding tire!

John Tooley, 43, died of a fractured skull he suffered when the car tire he was inflating exploded in his face.

Police in Owensboro, Ky., said the wheel rim struck Tooley in the head.

Tooley, of nearby Raymey Dells, had stopped at a convenience market to put air in his tire when the bizarre accident occurred.

Clean getaway

An East German made a clean getaway to the West — at the wheel of his road-sweeping machine.

The 43-year-old man waited until the East German border guards in northern Bavaria weren't looking and then swept into West Germany.

He said he'll let the police return the road-sweeper to the East Germans.

Cool killer ices his wife — then takes her body to his attorney

Coolheaded hubby Billy J. Conran killed his wife, dumped her bloody corpse in a trash can packed with ice and hauled it to his lawyer's office in his pickup.

"He didn't say a word to the attorney, just dropped off the body and drove away," said Police Lt. Mike Knorr.

By JACK ALEXANDER

But Conran, 48, lost his cool two days later. He blew his brains out with a 38-caliber revolver without answering questions surrounding the murder of his wife, Sylvia, 35.

He beat her to death with a blunt instrument, possibly during an argument, at their home near Naples, Fla., according to Lt. Knorr.

"We're still investigating the killing, but he's the only suspect," said the officer. "Since both parties are dead, we may never know what really happened."

When Conran's shocked attorney, J. Glen Taylor, saw what was in the 30-gallon plastic garbage can, he contacted the Collier County state attorney's office and they called sheriff's deputies.

"It appeared the woman had been dead for about two days before he decided to take her body to the lawyer," said Lt. Knorr.

"An autopsy revealed she died from severe head injuries."

Lt. Knorr said that investigators went to Conran's house two days after he had delivered her body and found him dead from a single bullet wound to the head.

Women Just Wouldn't Let Me Stop Making My Wrinkle Cream!

I've just never seen anything like it!

The women with wrinkles and who were concerned about — a friend, relative or neighbor. And they all really seem to worry about the results they get with my Michelle's Mink Essential Cream. I can't think of any other explanation for the crowds at my door and the stacks of mail orders from all over the country.

It's certainly not because of advertising. You probably haven't seen any of my ads in newspapers or newspapers in the last few years.

So many women have been urging me to tell the world about the treasure of Michelle's Mink Essential Cream, I've decided I really should share the good news.

All natural ingredients

Of course we know that this cream is not only different, it contains no dangerous hormones, estrogens or steroids — only the natural Mink oil available and research shows the rich oil of the luxurious mink closely resembles the oils of the human skin than any other ingredient.

But the women who use our cream are more interested in results than scientific research. They tell me they actually see amazing changes in their own mirrors.

They are thrilled with how dry, dull skin starts to bloom with a glowing, dewy freshness — new lustre, aging lines seem to vanish.

A typical letter comes from L. B. of Florida, who seemed to me how terrible Michelle's Mink Essential Cream made its wrinkles. "My sister in Missouri gave me a bottle of your cream and in three days I could see a real difference. I thank you."

And from L. H. in Georgia comes the following declaration: "I am most grateful to one of your oldest customers. I have been using your cream for many years. I am 78 years old and I haven't any wrinkles. I am sure your cream has played an important part in my good appearance."

Changes in climate, air pollutants, soap detergents — they all contribute to dryness that makes you look an years older.

Michelle's Mink Essential Cream works to restore to penetrating before the surface of your skin to replace essential oil and restore moisture balance. You see — you see those — look and feel younger times your attractive.

Full Money Back Guarantee

Truly, seeing is believing. I am so sure you will be delighted with Michelle's Mink Essential Cream I make you an unconditional guarantee.

Try my unique cream. Simply smooth it on your skin at night and let it do its work while you sleep. If after using it, you are not delighted with the changes in your complexion, just let us know. I'll refund your full purchase price, no questions asked.

Join the thousands of women who have discovered the secret of smooth, lovely skin. Send for your own supply of my exclusive complexion beauty aid today. 100% money back guarantee.

Take advantage of this special offer — you have nothing to lose. Trying is believing! Only by trying can you fully appreciate the benefits of Michelle's Mink Essential Cream. Introductory $7.95 for a 4 oz jar — $12.95 for a 4 oz. jar. Add $1 per order for handling and postage.

Pesky fleas drive holy man from his bed of nails

An Indian guru who tried to set a world record by sleeping on a bed of nails for 10 years – like gives up after just six months — because fleas were driving him crazy!

Sixty-year-old Rupat Jangimaro lay down on the 8-inch, razor sharp spikes last January.

Since then he's lived on a diet of rice, vegetables and water. He seemed quite comfortable on his 7-foot by 4-foot bed — until it became infested with fleas.

"I just couldn't take it any more," Jangimaro said. "The fleas were biting my back and driving me crazy.

"I think the bed of nails got infested by a passing dog who lay down beside me in the dirt and scratched. About a week later the fleas were biting my back.

"It was merely uncomfortable at first, but after a few weeks it became unbearable," he said.

"Then, after my horrible breakfast one morning, I just jumped up and said, 'That's it! I'm finished.'"

A doctor who examined the holy man's back said there were no punctures wounds from the nails, but said that "his back was very badly flea-bitten. There were red lumps all over it."

Jangimaro said he'll try again, possibly as early as this month.

Meanwhile his bed of nails has been treated with flea spray, authorities in Delhi, India, report.

Mom smokes while tot drowns, cops say

A mother was arrested on child neglect charges after cops said she sat poolside smoking a cigarette while her little boy drowned.

Authorities in Pensacola, Fla., said it was the second of Linda Claire Kay's children to drown under similar circumstances.

The 31-year-old woman was arrested after her son David, 2, was found floating facedown in his grandmother's swimming pool.

Pensacola Police Investigator Ken Franks said Mrs. Kay was found to be drunk when her 2-year-old daughter drowned in a neighbor's swimming pool in Lake Elsinore, Calif., four years ago. Mrs. Kay received probation in that case.

Pensacola Police Sgt. Perry Knowles said Mrs. Kay, who lives in Pomona, Calif., was visiting her mother in Pensacola when her son drowned. She left the boy alone in the swimming pool area and went to retrieve a ball he'd tossed over a fence, investigators said.

"Mrs. Kay made no effort to call for her son or search for him," according to the warrant. "Mrs. Kay instead sat down on a lawn chair and smoked a cigarette.

"After about 10 or 15 minutes, she got up and started to enter the pool and saw her son floating facedown."

Mrs. Kay, who was released on $13,000 bond, had been scheduled to begin serving a six-month sen-

To put your mind at peace, we DO fill orders as promptly as is humanly possible and, since no weight loss method on earth ever works the same for everyone, not even a virtually fail-proof method such as POWERSLIM™, we also DO promptly refund anyone who may not be 100% delighted with POWERSLIM™.

I've lost 46 pounds so far and never felt better!

"I spent most of my life trying to lose 46 pounds that made me look 20 years older. I tried every diet, every gimmick I could lay my hands on, but nothing ever helped. Sometimes I would lose a little, like 5 or 6 pounds, never more than 10, and then gain it all back. It was frustrating. I actually became convinced that I was a person who would have to stay fat all his life. Then came POWERSLIM and the miracle happened! I've lost 46 pounds so far and never felt better! And this time, no crazy dieting. POWERSLIM took care of it all!" David W., cosmetologist
